FOREWORD

Our College like the seed of our beautiful Vermont Maple, when once embedded in the ground, began to grow, putting down roots to gather nutrients from the rich soil and extending its branches to the sky for all to see and enjoy. Eventually it became too large for its crowded surroundings and had to be carefully transplanted to a more fertile spot where it could continue its growth. Here it found a greater opportunity to establish a secure foundation and to reach new heights.

Thus has Lyndon Teachers College developed, from eleven students in 1911 to an enrollment of one hundred fifty in 1956, from a high school teacher training course to a four-year course and the granting of a Bachelor of Science in Education Degree, from a homeless institution to a mansion with one of the most scenic campuses in New England.

In commemoration of the College's 45th anniversary, the Class of 1956 invites you to review this development through your new Verlyn whose keynote is GROWTH.

ADMINISTRATION

ARTHUR B. ELLIOTT

President

It is sometimes too easy to forget our debt to the past and to overlook our obligation to the future.

But at Lyndon Teachers College it is difficult to forget that we owe much to those who have gone before us. The careful planning of Mr. Vail, from the unyielding rock foundations to the solid copper roof, is evident in our physical surroundings. The untiring work of Miss Bole and her assistants is manifest in the sound principles of practice and theory upon which our college is built. We are constantly reminded that out of the past has come a heritage which only those of genuine vision could have provided.

It is difficult, also, here at Lyndon Teachers College to disregard the challenge of the future. Looking out across the valleys and the mountains, the farms and the homes, the stores and the factories, we see a way of life we cherish and a land we love. We would be dull indeed if we failed to feel that all this which is so much a part of us is ours to protect and strengthen. And in our daily work we feel a unity of purpose and a dedication to the best that is in us.

Let us continue to build here a college which is worthy of the best traditions of the past and from which will grow the courage and the wisdom to meet whatever the future may hold.

DEANS' PAGE

DEAN OF INSTRUCTION

The growth of Lyndon Teachers College has been, in part, a result of the efforts of the Class of 1956. The class and the people in the class have made the college a better place in which to work, study, and live.

The growth of the college has a counterpart in your growth, both as a class and as individuals. You have grown personally and professionally.

As we help others to grow, we grow ourselves. This is a basic theme of education. Our growth depends upon the growth of others, and their growth depends upon ours.

It takes time, energy, and strong desire to help others to grow. Many times it seems to be the longest and hardest road of the many roads we might take. Where we can have the choice, the road that helps others to grow is the best road.

You have given to LTC and have helped it to grow. Choose to do the same for the school in which you work, the community in which you live, and the people with whom you work.

DR. JAMES K. DUNCAN

DEAN OF WOMEN

TO THE CLASS OF 1956—

May the growth of Lyndon be a symbol of your growth as individuals and in your profession. It is to be hoped that Lyndon may continue to be of service to you and that you, now alumni, will continue to be of service to Lyndon. Lyndon is proud to be represented by you. We wish for each of you the best of success and happiness.

Forty-one freshmen—uncertain, a little bewildered, and yet determined to further their education—arrived here on Vail Hill, September 10, 1955.

They were greeted by the upperclassmen and the faculty in Orientation Week when they were introduced to the ways of college life. Then followed the work and the fun of the school year in both of which the freshmen took their full share. Three or four, finding a different calling in life, left the campus, going their separate ways.

However, those who remained began to grow in knowledge and to mature in character. As the year progressed, new students joined the class, adding to their numbers until they were forty-five strong.

The freshman class grew well during their first year in Lyndon, changing from forty-one insecure "kids" to forty-five young adults, determined to give their best to their chosen career.

During the first part of the fall semester, the freshmen were supposed to visit the different activities of the school before deciding which organizations they wished to join. After they had made the decision, many organizations received a decided boost from the eager new members.

Freshman accomplishments, individually and as a class, have been many. As a class they put on the Hallowe'en dance, took top honors in sports events during the Winter Carnival, and presented an assembly. Individually: Bud Chapdelaine won a lead in the opera "Kittiwake Island." Arden Barton and Douglas Fisher helped the Lyn News as advertising managers, Virginia Lawrence as a features writer, and numerous others as reporters. Barbara Brown was top scorer for the girls in the Winter Carnival. Naaman Greene was high scorer on the varsity basketball squad.

The sophomore class has an enrollment of forty-seven students. New students who entered the class this year are Leland Blodgett, Robert Cubie, George Drew, Marion Gray, Sandra Johnson, Janice Kinne, James Robinson and David Tower.

The sophomore class has been represented in many of the college activities. This year's Christmas Ball, with the theme "Winter Wonderland," was sponsored by its members. At the Carnival Ball in January, the class president, Roland Williams, was honored by being chosen King.

The play, "Bell, Book, and Candle," presented by five LTC students showed talent in the sophomore class. Two of the cast were Roger Couture and Patricia Fenn.

Individual class members have represented the college in another state. Among the three students representing the college at the Eastern States Association of Professional Schools for Teachers Conference in New York is Patricia Fenn. Also attending the conference from the sophomore class was Shirley Hoisington.

The sophomores have assisted in making improvements around the college. William Christiansen helped Mr. Stockwell install the telescope.

Sports-minded Perley Wright helped to bring Lyndon Teachers College to the spotlight of the surrounding area this winter. He was the first of a series of basketball players to be featured in the Caledonian-Record. Because of his outstanding plays, Perley was chosen "Player of the Week."

Lyndon Teachers College news is broadcast every Sunday at WTNW in St. Johnsbury. A student who has helped to make the 1955-1956 radio program a success is sophomore Gerry Brooks.

The Carnival Card Party sponsored by the Press Club received help from many of the sophomores. Patricia Fenn was general chairman of this committee. Exhibiting talent for this occasion from the sophomore class were Gerry Brooks, Roger Couture, Herbert Watson, Norman Hunt, and Janice Kinne.

In September 1955, twenty-seven Juniors returned to the college. New members this year are Anna Del Veneri, Robert Kent, and Richard Rhoades. Leaving the campus the second semester was Otis Carleton.

One of the main activities of this class during their Junior year was the Commencement Ball in June, given in honor of the seniors. A second dance which they sponsored was a Thanksgiving Sock Hop.

A major scholastic event of the Junior class is practice teaching. This is usually the first teaching experience of the required college curriculum.

One member of the class, Katherine Reed, opened the doorway for an affiliation with the Brandon School for Retarded Children when she visited there for a two-week period.

Lyndon's town representative to the Vermont legislature, Richard Rhoades, is also a member of the Junior class.

GIRLS' SOCCER

The 1955 girls' soccer season was short but extremely successful as Coach Philip Noll's forces came through their two-game schedule undefeated. Practice started early with twenty-three hopeful stalwarts all vying for the starting positions. Fourteen were returnees while only eight of the freshmen tried their luck. Of the freshmen Marjorie Greenwood and Barbara Brown were the only two to break into the star-studded line-up.

The substitutes were Annie Wright, Josephine Riegal, Vivian Boardman, Lucille Musgrove, Rita Davignon, Susan Onsruth, Shirley Day, Colleen Pierce, Mary Robinson, Jeanne Johnson, Helen Blodgett, and Jean Paris.

Teamwork was the keynote to the success of the Lyndon girls. Their first victory was over an evenly-matched Castleton Teachers College team. The second game proved an easier victory for the home team when they easily defeated the Vermont Junior College girls. Both games were played away from home.

MENS' SOCCER

Under the supervision of all-American Coach Melvin Schmid, Lyndon Teachers College has developed a lively interest in the "international sport," soccer.

After a brief introduction to soccer in 1953, the interest picked up enough for the establishment of an intercollegiate team in 1954. Two games were played which both resulted in losses; but as the year 1955-56 rolled around, twenty-five men came out to try their luck. Although no wins were recorded, LTC was a tough team to defeat as the scores indicate.

From a start of a two game schedule in 1954, and a five game schedule in 1955, the hope of the future is for seven or eight games each fall.

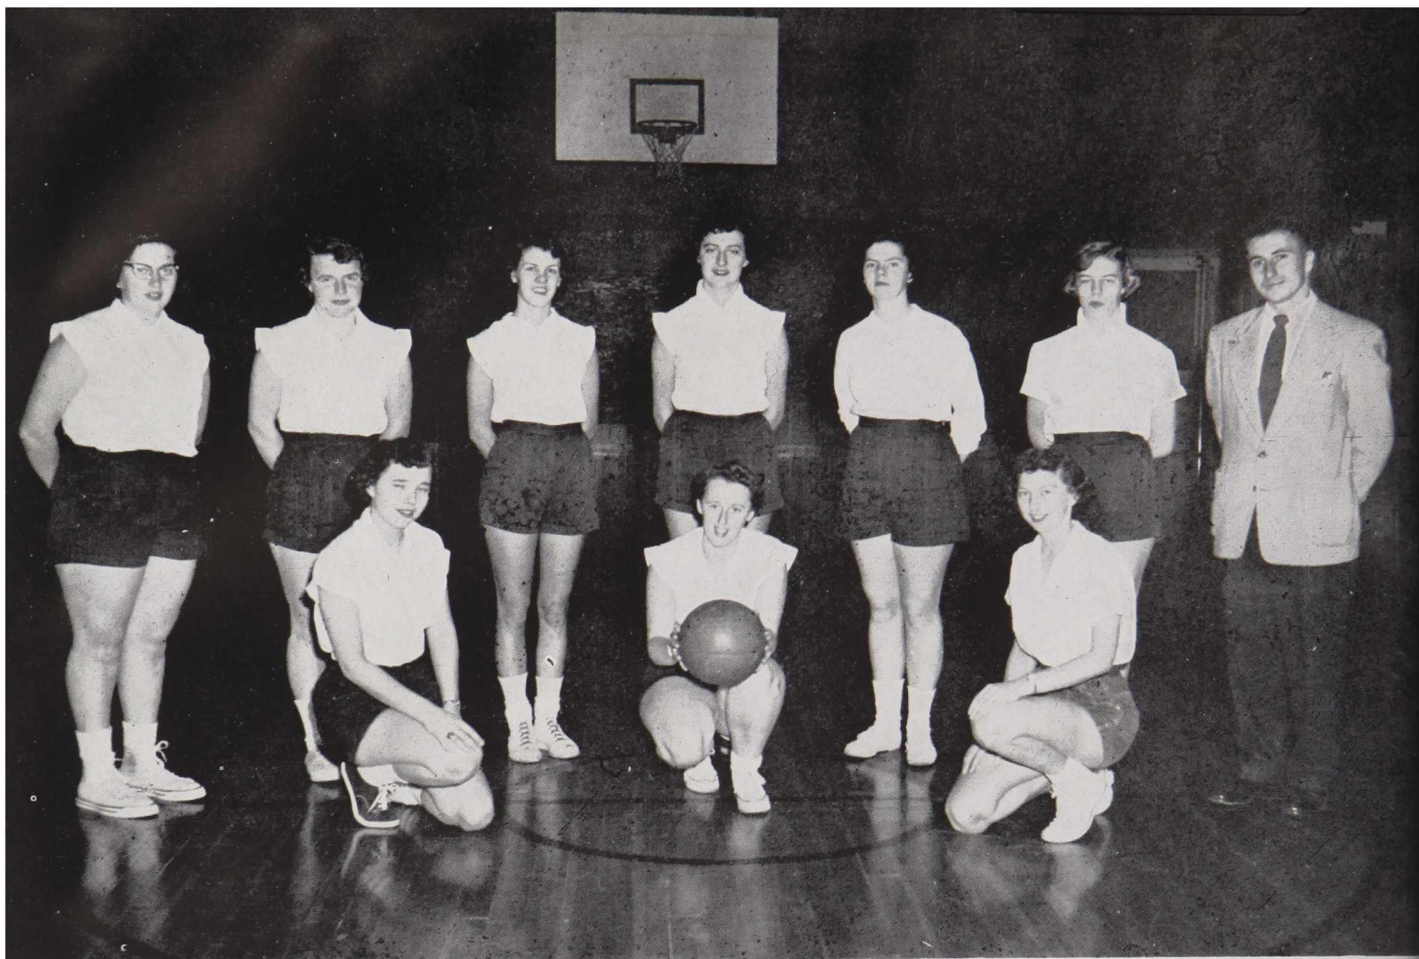

Coach Schmid has participated at the National Soccer Forum in Florida for the past two years and hopes to take his team down to see the show and perhaps play in the annual North-South All-Star game.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The 1956 basketball season was one of the most successful in the history of girls' basketball here at Lyndon. After losing the first two games, the girls held the lead throughout the remainder of the season ending with an eight-two record.

From the first game played, the team exemplified the outstanding spirit and skill that was exhibited throughout the entire season. Even though there were fewer candidates this year than last, there was much enthusiasm shown by all the teammates.

J. V. BASKETBALL

The Junior Varsity team completed the best season since Lyndon grew to a size to support a JV team four years ago, winning seven out of the eleven games played. The team started the season most effectively as they won their first five games before meeting defeat at the hands of the St. Johnsbury Academy team. In the second half of the season, they only won two out of six to end the season with a seven won and four lost record.

Of the team players seven are freshmen; two, sophomores; and one is a junior. The team was led in scoring by Dale Hanson, Gerry Brooks, Burns Page, and Richard McAllister.

One of the losses of the team was to the tall Peacham Academy team which went to the semi-final of the Class C tournament at Barre.

CHEERLEADERS

Last year the WAA decided to have two cheerleading squads. One squad would be assigned to the varsity teams; and the second, to the junior varsity.

The need then arose for new uniforms which the WAA purchased after raising money for them.

Captain of the varsity cheerleaders was Joy Woodworth with Judy Hamilton, Barbara Brown, Irene Spring, Patricia Fenn, and Patricia Staples comprising the rest of the staff. To add a little spice in the line of gymnastic cheerleading, the varsity squad added Norman Hunt and Roger Couture. As in the past Mr. Schmid coached the varsity squad.

The junior varsity cheerleaders were coached by veteran cheerleader Shirley Jenks. Virginia Glover was chosen captain, and the rest of the squad consisted of Virginia Lawrence, Carole Garand, Muriel Rocheleau, Jean Paris, Vivian Boardman, and Janice Bishop.

VARSIITY BASKETBALL

More candidates than ever before in the history of the school turned out for basketball in 1955-1956. Of the fourteen finally chosen for the Varsity Team, six were freshmen; three, sophomores; four, juniors; and one was a senior.

The Green Hornets played a total of sixteen games and ended the season with a six won and ten lost record which was considered good since it was a practically new team, inexperienced in college play. With almost the entire team returning next year and with many promising Junior Varsity men, even better days appear to be ahead.

Some new Lyndon records were made this year. They set a new high for a score made in one game, with 109 points against MacDonald College. Perley Wright with 36 points against the Norwich Junior Varsity set a new high for individual scoring. Naaman Green set a new high for rebounds in a single game with 30 against Norwich.

SOFTBALL

Nineteen candidates appeared for the girls' uled, all to be played on the home field; but the softball team in 1955. Four games were sched-Castleton Teachers College game was rained out after three innings of play.

The game with Peacham was the most exciting with the result uncertain until the final out was made, leaving the Lyndon girls victorious.

The Lyndon Institute team, playing superior baseball throughout the game, gave the college girls their only defeat of the season; but the Hornettes rallied in their final game and defeated the Vermont Junior College team.

Elaine Demars and Shirley Hoisington were the regular pitchers with Winona Peck the third hurler. Alice Hazen completed the battery, catching all the games. On the offensive, Josephine Riegel and Alice Hazen wielded mighty bats.

Softball still remains a minor sport on the campus, but there is a growing interest in the game with more than twice as many candidates in 1956 and the introduction of intramural softball on the Campus.

The 1956 baseball team was more optimistic than ever before because of the growth in the number participating. In fact, there were so many candidates that Coach Melvin Schmid established a Junior Varsity team, another first in the growth of Lyndon.

1956 marked the second straight season that a Southern trip was taken during the spring vacation. This trip is considered important in helping the players to prove themselves early. It also is a sight-seeing tour of the Eastern seaboard.

When Coach Schmid appeared on the Lyndon baseball scene in 1953 the college had a meager four game schedule. He quickly jumped it up to ten games then to eleven, and in 1956 to fourteen, discounting the three game Southern trip.

The Student Government Executive Board began as a school organization in 1936 while Lyndon was still a small normal school, but expanding every year. Today, the Executive Board is the governing body of students at Lyndon Teachers College.

Its purposes are to bring the students to a better understanding of and a greater responsibility in the government of the student body and to maintain a closer relationship between the students and the faculty.

Their special activities are limited in number, but valuable in achieving their purposes. These activities include organizing Clean-up Day in the spring of each year, sponsoring students to various educational conferences, setting up the budget for the school organizations, and presiding over all student government meetings.

DORM COUNCIL and MEN'S UNION

The first record of a dormitory organization dates from 1940 when an organization was formed representing women. Representation varied as dormitory space was modified for the increasing enrollment, a growing per cent of which was men. In 1944, representatives from the four classes along with three other officers were chosen, a practice which still continues.

The purpose of the Dormitory Council is to govern dormitory life and enrich it socially. The Council holds bi-monthly meetings to solve dormitory problems and to plan house meetings and birthday suppers. Orientation Week and the Christmas Craft Party were highlights of the social activities of the Council this year.

In 1954 the men students formed a Men's Union which is comparable in form and purpose to the Dormitory Council. Many improvements have been made by the Union in the men's dormitory, the most noticeable of which was the refinishing of the men's lounge.

In the year 1939, a college newspaper took its first step toward the Lyn-News, a printed college paper. At that time, the newspaper was called the Verlynette and was a bi-monthly mimeographed paper.

The Verlynette became known in 1947 as the Echo, and in 1950 as The Blue Sheet. In the fall of 1953, the name was changed to the Lyn-News.

The Lyn-News was a weekly mimeographed newspaper during that year with the commencement issue marking the greatest change in the history of the school newspaper. This issue was the first printed newspaper of the college.

Among the purposes of the Lyn-News are to inform the students and other interested persons of the activities of the college; to support the administration in forwarding its plans and policies; and to train students in school journalism.

The activities this year were a Press Conference, a food sale, a carnival card party. Several staff members attended the National Scholastic Press Association Conference at Columbia University in New York City. The most time-consuming activity of the Lyn-News staff was to publish a newspaper each week.

The Press Conference was the main single event of the year. Many hours of preparation were spent to make this a successful event. The highlight of the conference was Col. Joseph Murphy of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association as guest speaker. Col. Murphy's opening lecture "What Should be in a School Paper?" was given before a group of over 250 guests. Several panels and workshops of interest to high school students, newspaper reporters, and advisers were also held at the Press Conference.

This year, it was decided that advertisers would be better served by a weekly publication. Therefore their names only appear in the Verlyn as sponsors.

DIRECTOR: Roy Christophersen

PIANIST: Mrs. Roy Christophersen

The orchestra is really three groups in one—the wind ensemble, the dance band, and the orchestra—all directed by Professor Roy Christophersen.

The orchestra had been an inactive organization until last year when it was revived by Mrs. Charles Leavitt. This year, both a dance band and a wind ensemble have been formed within the orchestra so that there are three kinds of music ready upon call.

The achievements of this group are a result of long and hard work, but the orchestra is now capable of attaining its goal of promoting instrumental music at LTC.

The wind ensemble has played for the Christmas concert, at Red Village, and on the radio program.

The dance band plays at assemblies, sock hops, and for the Carnival Ball.

The orchestra has assisted the Glee Club with its programs and has provided the instrumental music for the opera "Kittiwake Island."

GLEE CLUB

The Glee Club was first organized in 1934 with an enrollment of thirty women students. Today there are thirty students, composed of both men and women students who enjoy this very active organization.

In 1955 Glee Club work became accredited toward a degree, one and a half points being given. A governing board composed of elected students controls the budget, attendance, and major problems of the Glee Club.

The purposes of the club are to further the musical education of its members, to have enjoyment and pleasure, and to present entertainment to the college and the public.

This year in May they presented "Kittiwake Island," their first attempt at opera.

Mrs. Charles Leavitt was the adviser until she retired in 1955. Her place was taken by Prof. Roy Christophersen, LTC music instructor.

The Book Store and Snack-Bar are run by the students themselves as a student co-operative unit.

The purpose of the Student Co-op is to give the members many materials and resources as inexpensively as possible.

To be a member of this organization, each student purchases a two-dollar share. This share entitles him to a rebate at the end of each year which comes from the profit made throughout that year. At graduation, or upon leaving school, this deposit is refunded. This share also enables one to a slight discount at the Snack Bar.

During the past year, the Snack Bar was redecorated by the members of the Art Club. In the Book Store, inventory was taken, remodeling was done, and the bookkeeping system was revised.

CAMPUS FAITH

Four years ago, the Student Christian Association was organized as a minor organization with about ten members. It has grown to have a significant place in campus life and has advanced from a personal study group to a service organization. As its scope has increased, the need was shown for a new name, the Campus Faith Organization.

Among the purposes of the Campus Faith Organization are to bring the impact of faith to bear on the life of the campus, to encourage the members to develop maturity in the faith of their choice, to promote leadership, and to encourage students to function as religious citizens.

This year the members sponsored a Clergy Tea, Christmas Caroling, denominational meetings at the Lyndonville churches, and a taffy pull at Mr. Hoffman's. On Hallowe'en students collected money for the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund, followed by a party at Mr. Dewey's.

Beginning as a small organization in 1939, the Dramatics Club has grown to be one of the active groups on the campus. Each year since its inception the club has presented one-act plays and often has attempted three-act plays.

A student-directed three-act play, "Bell, Book, and Candle" was the feature of the year.

Other activities have been assisting Peacham High School with their stage and presenting a play at the College One-Act Play Festival at Castleton.

The purposes are to provide entertainment for the school and the community, to give training to students in stage setting, lighting, make-up, and directing.

ART CLUB

The Art Club was first organized in 1950, although there had been other clubs interested in various phases of art. Even after the beginning of the present organization, it was very slow in getting a real start and from 1953-1955 appeared to be completely dormant.

But this year has seen both growth and action in this newly reawakened activity, and it has been growing at a steady pace. During the year it has done much to enrich the school with new ideas on art, and it has provided opportunities for those students especially interested in art.

It can boast of numerous achievements. It painted the stage sets for "Bell, Book, and Candle," it redecorated the snack bar, it has given an art exhibition, and it has made many posters for other school functions.

The Justin Morrill Chapter of the FTA was organized in 1951 by students interested in advancing the great principles of education established by Horace Mann. The FTA, a professional organization and an associate of the National Education Association and the Vermont Education Association, prepares college students for the teachers' role in professional organizations and selectively recruits in high schools.

Activities at first were limited to studies of history and ethics of the organized teaching profession, but in the last few years much has been done with service projects for schools.

This year's activities included the Sheffield School project, studies of FTA purposes, fund-raising Slave Auctions, aid in high school recruitment, participation in VEA Convention and in Vermont High School FTA Club Conference, and sponsoring the Vermont College Department of FTA Spring Conference.

MOMENTS TO REMEMBER

Moments to remember! Yes, many things have happened at college during this past year to accent college life and to produce experiences that will long be outstanding in our minds.

Most Unforgettable. Perhaps the most unforgettable moment of the year came in July when Miss Rita L. Bole, the college's first president announced her resignation. This came with surprise and regret to the many friends she had made during her twenty-eight years at Lyndon although all were agreed that she had well earned a rest.

Along with this comes to mind the standing reception which greeted the new president and long-time friend of the college, Arthur B. Elliott, as he entered Bole Hall last September for the first meeting of the student body.

Most Amazing. Most amazing moments took place in the field of expansion. Upon returning to college in the fall, the students discovered the spacious athletic field completed with a freshly laid baseball diamond, and found a beautifully decorated modern art room and a recreation room built on the foundation of the old mushroom cellar. The kindergarten moved to the old art room which had been refurnished.

During the year a garage and shop for college vehicles has been erected behind the gymnasium; new canopies have been built on Bole Hall; a telescope has been installed on the Campus; and a south tower room has been converted into a press room with bulletin boards, cupboards, and files for use of school publications.

Most Informative. Besides being one of the most informative, the Journalism Conference held last November can also receive credit for being the "biggest" moment of the year as at that time the public relations class and the Lyn-News staff were hosts to 251 students representing Vermont high schools and colleges.

A survey of student spending was another project of the Lyn-News staff. This was made to determine the worth of student spending to the northeast area.

Most Charitable. A most successful fund-raising campaign took place as a Halloween Trick or Treat last October when members of the Campus Faith Organization raised $90.00 for the UNICEF by their community "doorbell ringing."

About two weeks later forty-five students turned out for the bloodmobile in Lyndonville, donating about 55% of the total drawing.

Most Patriotic. Here at the college the most patriotic moments may be said to have been the time spent reporting planes on the Ground Observer Corps post. Outside of the college many of the men students spend much of their time in the Lyndonville and St. Johnsbury Local Reserve Units and National Guards.

Most Entertaining. A most successful production of a student-directed comedy drama, "Bell, Book, and Candle," given by the Dramatics Club, held many outsiders as well as students and faculty spellbound with its witchery and enchantment. The Art Club designed and painted the scenes for this play.

The dance band, formed as a result of student interest and talent, is another feature added to the college that has made for many enjoyable moments.

VERLYN

Most Hilarious. Hilarious would describe the audience as well as the activity during the Slave Auction which has become an annual feature of the Future Teachers organization. At this auction, student and faculty members were sold to bake, clean, tutor, and do other jobs, thus bringing about an hour of merriment during the sale. Proceeds went to help the organization carry out its school projects and sponsor the State FTA Conference which was held at Lyndon in April.

Most Distant. It was a year for trips. In December the members of the History of Art class went for a two-day tour of Boston's Museums studying and comparing the work of the great masters.

Twelve representatives of the Lyn-News staff attended the Columbia Scholastic Press Association in March where conferences were held with representatives from high schools and colleges in thirty-five states as well as mass interviews with newspapermen, authors, cartoonists, and movie stars.

Another trip to New York was made during the latter part of March, when three students represented Lyndon at the Conference of Eastern States Association of Professional Schools for Teachers. Here they took part in discussion groups with the over-all theme "The Teacher and the Learner."

Local trips were made by social studies classes to museums and other historic sites in Vermont.

One of the most talked-about trips took place during spring vacation when the baseball team, with their coach, went on a southern game tour to play colleges of several southern states as spring training for the team.

A First. Along with other experiences the yearbook has for the first time all senior editors.
